A word from Pastor*Jarrod*

April showers bring May flowers, so the saying goes. We've endured a strange April, from sleet to sunshine to snow to rain. The same wild ups and downs and unexpected changes during what we expect to be a 'normal' spring relate the changes that we experience in life when everything is going 'normally.' We can expect periods of our life to have a sense of continuance and expectation, and then, just like April, the season changes dramatically, and we're sent reeling from one feeling to another, from one way of thinking to another, from one way of life to another. In times like this, it's important for us to remember that, though the seasons in life change and though people may come and go, God is the one constant through everything: he who is the same yesterday, today, and forever. It's because of that stability that we can trust in the finished work of Christ, which can never be undone. May we all be reminded that his presence and work is constant, no matter what may be happening in the world. May we lean into this truth as we enter into what we hope will be a 'normal' season of spring and our life as God's people.
